

Arne Heesch - Lyrics - „Demons Are Scared“

Sick Of Saying Goodbye

Great spirit guide me
My love is too heavy
It's a burden that stains my sleep
So sick of saying goodbye
The power of mind flows right through hand
Let me feel not think
Let my build this temple once again
My love be quiet
Be aware of the reflection in her eyes
Your spirit's free now
Your heart is yours alone

The Goddess

Don't be scared-be fearless
Nothing ever lasts anyway
Free your heart and start bleeding
Let your blood feed her ground
Bow to the goddess
Her face in the fire
Her breath in the sky
Bow down
Feed your fire and stay unchained
Don't let their madness bury your soul
Free your heart and start bleeding
Let your blood feed her ground
Bow to the goddess
Her face in the fire
Her breath in the sky
When the freeze beckons
We will reply
Bow down

Treeprayer

I want to be like a tree growing ever strong
Woven into the fabric of the universe
My roots - growing into the centre of the earth
The cooling water - soothing me
Now that you're gone
My world has changed
Still - i sense fearlessness in the wind
And i'll be here aligned with the trees
And my head in the stars
I want to be like wind in the trees blowing ever strong
Embracing the pain and taking the fear away
Flying through the trees under a full moon sky
Guiding you to the sacred place of your soul
Now that you're gone
My sight has changed
Still - i sense fearlessness in the wind
And i'll be here aligned with the trees
And my head in the stars

The King Rises

The king rises
Sky and earth and fire in his eyes
And the queen is just a breeze touching his soul
For his heart is strong
And his will is clear
He's in love with the storms
They carry him
The king rises
He's chasing the storm
The king rises
He's facing himself
The king rises
Sky and earth and fire in his heart
And the past is just a breeze touching his soul
For his heart is strong
And his will is clear
He's in love with the storms
They carry him

Demons Are Scared

Hey i know the fire in your eyes
It's just like mine
And i know these cruelties that linger around your throne
All my demons are scared now that you are here
And i wondered how easily my defenses fell
I've been staring into this void
Fighting the shadows
Had to survive myself
To finally find you
Hey i know - the pain in your blood boils just like mine
And i know - the insanity of the masses fuels your rage
But even you can't save me from being torn up inside
I can see you in the dark
Give me your love
I've been staring into this void
Fighting the shadows
Had to survive myself
To finally find you

Magneto

We met in the eye of a storm
The leaves were falling
I stumbled through this wreckage i called my life
When i first saw you it filled my heart with desire
And when i first kissed you i found truth
The storm the sea and you
Beautiful and true
Baby your home was on fire
We kept the flames burning
Still i don't know where we're going and i don't care
Like lovers we kissed
Like soulmates we fell asleep
Breathing each other's breath
The storm the sea and you
Beautiful and true
You may have heard this before
You are the one that i've been waiting for

The Glowing

There are bumblebees in my lavender
On the balcony of my apartment
Red wine in my veins
The golden eye enlightens me
Teach me how to lose control
When i'm frozen under the surface
Show me how to focus sharply
When things get shallow
Here's my cat chasing butterflies
The raging purity of life itself
In the beginning there was this glowing
I'm happy i caught it for myself
Lead me back to the inside
To the glowing
To the flowing
Touch me deeply
When things get shallow

Treedeon Song

And the ashes keep falling from their mouths
And this endless rain doesn't wash away a thing
I get so sick of these hollow people
With this cold consuming fire in their eyes
They will burn
And the coal is falling from their eyes
And the pain won't cleanse my soul at all
I run through the masses all alone
With this all elusive pyre on their lips
They won't learn
Can't you see
The blind leading the blind
And death keeps dripping from their hands
There's a hell their empty hearts can't see
Don't leave this world to these hollow people
With this cold consuming fire in their eyes
They will burn
And the starbeams are falling from their eyes
And the pain won't cleanse my soul at all
I run through the masses all alone
With this all elusive pyre on their lips
They won't learn
Can't you see
The blind leading the blind
Who are you?
I am ancient
Who are you?